Opening 1 / 5

Hi, everyone. I'm Aaron. I'm not great at speaking in front of people, so I wrote this down. Thank you for being patient.

Part 2 2 / 5

Eli and I have been friends since high school. One rainy morning, I was waiting at the bus stop without a jacket. Eli walked up, took off his own, and handed it to me. He didn't say anything. He just stood there in the rain until the bus came.

Part 3 3 / 5

That's all I have, and it's all I need. Eli, you give without making a speech about it. Nora, I think you know that.

Part 4 4 / 5

I'm happy for you both, and I'm glad I got to say it, even if my hands are shaking. Thank you for asking me to be here.

Please raise your glass to Eli and Nora, and to a long, dry, happy life.
