Opening 1 / 4

Hello, everyone. I'm Fiona. Leila and I have been best friends for nine years, and for eight of them, we have lived in different cities. I flew here, and I will fly home tomorrow, but I wanted to be standing right here.

Part 2 2 / 4

Every Wednesday night, at eight, we call each other and do the crossword together. She reads me a clue. I read her one. We argue about the answer. Some nights it takes ten minutes. Some nights, an hour and a half, and neither of us has finished a single puzzle in eight years.

Part 3 3 / 4

It was never about the crossword. It was about the sound of her voice saying, 'Seven letters, starts with a B.' Hugo, you have heard it. I know you wait in the next room on Wednesdays. Thank you for that. Thank you for being quiet, and thank you for sometimes shouting the answer.

Closing 4 / 4

Leila, you are never far away, even when you are. Please raise your glasses, everyone, to Leila and Hugo, and to every Wednesday still to come.
